- (C) If applicable, include the commission(s) on which you have served previously and include the time frame.

The Historical Preservation Commission plays a vital role in safeguarding our cultural heritage and architectural history. My views on the roles and responsibilities of this committee are as follows:

- A focus on preservation: The commission must enforce strict guidelines to ensure the protection and conservation of historically significant structures and landmarks. This involves reviewing proposed changes or demolitions to assess their impact on heritage. Furthermore, it should include research to understand the historical relevance of proposed changes.
- Education and Adoption: Promoting public awareness about the value of historic preservation is crucial. Offering educational programs, workshops, and resources can help foster a sense of responsibility and involvement within the community.
- Collaboration: Working closely with property owners, developers, and local governments is essential. Collaborative efforts can lead to creative solutions for preserving historic sites while accommodating modern needs.

In my experience some key issues facing the commission include balancing property rights with preservation, securing funding for restoration projects, and navigating conflicts between development interests and historical significance.

My goals, if appointed, would be enhancing the commission's efficiency and transparency, advocating for legislation to support preservation efforts, and expanding partnerships with heritage organizations to broaden the impact of historical preservation in Glendale. Ultimately, the commission should strive to protect our shared history for future generations while respecting the rights of property owners and their effort for improving their properties.

(B) Glendale's Historic Preservation Committee plays a vital role in identifying and protecting important historical resources throughout our City. Protecting Glendale's historic resources provides a necessary continuity in our built environment which will continue to connect and inspire generations of residents to come. Historical resources are essential to maintain a strong sense of community and a unique character for our City.

The role of a Historic Preservation Commissioner is a tremendous responsibility which requires dedication, architectural knowledge, sound judgment, and thoughtful and balanced decision-making which I believe I possess. A Commissioner must have the ability to fairly and effectively evaluate the impact on Glendale's historic resources of each issue which is presented - whether it be modifications to a home in a Historic District, designation of a new Historic District or adding additional properties to the Glendale Register of Historic Resources. Glendale will continue to grow and evolve in the future. Therefore, it is vital that a Commissioner be balanced in making historic preservation decisions realizing that historical age and vintage alone are not necessarily sufficient to deserve preservation. If I am appointed to the Commission, my goals are to be diligent, thoughtful and impartial in my decisions without regard to any personal or political agenda.

Application for Appointment to the Historic Preservation Commission

V. Qualifications / Experience

Although architecture is neither my educational nor professional specialty, I have always had a passion for great architecture as well as historic preservation. I feel that I have acquired an extensive knowledge of these subjects, particularly with respect to Southern California, through varying activities over many years. These include lectures, architecture books and most importantly in-person tours.

I have a keen appreciation of all types of architectural styles that have defined Los Angeles and Glendale's history and growth over the decades ranging from Victorian to Craftsman, Mission Revival, Spanish Colonial Revival, Period Revival, Art Deco, Streamline Moderne, Modernism, Ranch and Contemporary styles. And I understand the defining features of each style as well as the unique characteristics of the most famous practitioners of these styles.

My in-person experiences have been supplemented by extensive reading on Glendale's history as well as the most celebrated architects of Southern California's most significant architectural styles. I have a personal library on these topics which is too extensive to list here.

Below is a sampling of some of the in-person experiences I've had:

- Tours devoted to Victorian homes (Pasadena), Carroll Avenue (LA) and Heritage Square (LA).
- Tours devoted to Craftsman homes, particularly those of Greene & Greene, including the Gamble house and the Blacker house.
- Tours devoted to classic examples of Spanish Colonial Revival homes by Wallace Neff, Paul Williams, Reginald Johnson, Myron Hunt, Elmer Grey, George Washington Smith and Bertram Goodhue.

- Tours devoted to classic examples of other Period Revival homes such as Mediterranean, French Normandy, Tudor, Colonial and Storybook by diverse architects.
- Tours devoted to the architecture of Frank Lloyd Wright including the Hollyhock house, Ennis house, La Miniatura and the Freeman house.
- Tours devoted to examples of early Modernism designed by Rudolf Schindler, Richard Neutra, Lloyd Wright, Gregory Ain and others.
- Tours devoted to the extraordinary architecture of John Lautner.
- Tours devoted to the enormously influential Case Study program sponsored from 1945 to 1964 by Arts & Architecture Magazine. including homes by Richard Neutra, Raphael Soriano, Craig Ellwood and Charles and Ray Eames.
- Tours devoted to Palm Springs modernism.
- Tours devoted to more contemporary architects such as Pierre Koenig, Buff & Hensman, Ray Kappe and Frank Gehry.

I have also toured scores of Glendale homes of every vintage including extraordinary homes designed by Rudolf Schindler, Paul Williams and Lloyd Wright. Personally, I have restored a 1933 Spanish Revival home in the Bellehurst District.

Additionally, I have toured many historic and architecturally significant commercial and civic buildings. I support preservation and adaptive reuse of these structures whenever possible.

Of course, I realize that architecture is not the sole province of the Historical Preservation Commission. A property's history in Glendale can be an equally important factor in consideration of preservation. Perhaps the most obvious example of this is Rockhaven Sanitarium.

I also realize that consideration of historic preservation has to be a balanced process. A building should not automatically receive historic designation simply based on its age or generic style. A property must exhibit significant history and/or architectural quality to receive such protection.

I have watched videos or attended the monthly meetings of the Historic Preservation Commission for several years. I understand its functions well. This has convinced me that I would be a highly qualified and productive member of the Commission if I have the honor of being appointed.

- Providing Treasury support for numerous asset acquisitions and dispositions.
- Designing a Sarbanes-Oxley compliance program for Corporate Treasury.
- Participating in preparing Rating Agency Presentations for S&P, Moody's and Fitch.
- Analyzing the cost/benefit of Occidental's common stock listings on numerous foreign stock exchanges and documenting any regulatory hurdles to delisting from those exchanges. My recommendation to delist Occidental's common stock from all but the New York Stock Exchange was accepted and implemented by Senior Management saving the corporation millions of dollars annually in regulatory and legal fees.
- Preparing the Treasury/Finance disclosures contained in Occidental's quarterly (10-Q) and annual (10-K) filings with the SEC.
- Providing data and support for Occidental's internal and external auditors.
- Supervising a staff of four.
- Coordinating each approved financing with internal and external legal counsel. I am experienced in reviewing and commenting on complex legal documents.

California Resources Corporation – Director-Finance – 4 years

In late 2014, Occidental spun off all of its California assets and operations into a new publicly traded corporation – California Resources Corporation ("CRC"). Effecting this corporate spin-off included:

- Arranging a secured committed USD 2 billion Revolving Credit Facility and a USD 1 billion funded Term Loan from a syndicate of twenty domestic and international banks.

- Arranging the issuance of USD 5 billion of publicly issued non-investment grade secured bonds
- Arranging the payment of a USD 6 billion cash distribution to Occidental in exchange for the transfer of the California assets.
- Continuing to provide the types of financial management and oversight for CRC that I previously performed for Occidental.

In other cases we are the design review authority over properties that are considered historic resources that have proposed alterations.

I believe a Historic Preservation Commissioner should be aware of Glendale's rich history, and know about the Mills Act, the Secretary of Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties and Guidelines, and the City's own preservation ordinances. Understanding these concepts will guide them reviewing proposals, making recommendations to City Council, and granting, or denying, demolition permits, analyzing major alterations proposed to historic resources, and reviewing Mills Act applications.

If appointed I would love to find ways to increase public understanding and involvement in the historical, architectural and environmental heritage of the city through educational and interpretative programs, and to explore ways to protect, retain, and especially use any historic resource, historic district, or potential resources or districts! It would be exciting to discover and learn about properties that have not been designated as historic resources but are deserving of recognition, protection and appreciation!

LISA CUSACK

Dear Members of the Board,

I view the role of the Commission for Historic Preservation as that of safeguarding the integrity of the history and architecture of Glendale. The architecture of a city is a fundamental part of its evolving story, and the commission bears the responsibility of maintaining the beauty of Glendale's past, while providing the flexibility for the city to accommodate the demands of the future. The commission is responsible for balancing the needs of the individual with the needs of the many, and should be willing to listen to every voice and perspective. Additionally, the commission should seek to understand the uniqueness of each of Glendale's diverse neighborhoods. Architecture shapes a community in a distinct way, and what gets preserved will both express and define the values of the city and its communities.

Commission members must have a deep understanding of the Mills Act and all relevant city codes and be prepared to explain the law's details to the public clearly. With my extensive experience in education, writing, and public speaking, I am confident in my ability to inform and guide residents on these matters. I am a native of Los Angeles County, and one of things that attracted me to Glendale in particular was the city's beautiful architecture. I hold a strong appreciation for Glendale's rich history, the enduring charm of its past, and the critical role innovation plays in shaping its future. Since my own neighborhood of Cleveland Knolls is currently under consideration for historic district designation, I have developed a keen interest in learning the full scope of the laws and processes governing preservation. Additionally, my involvement in local politics has sharpened my awareness of how infrastructure and architecture shape the way communities engage with civic spaces. I am eager to further immerse myself in the field of historic preservation here in Glendale.

Of my numerous discussions with friends, family, neighbors, fellow civic leaders, donors, business owners, real estate agents, and others both Left and Right, I have come to this conclusion:

Historic preservation is unfamiliar at best and badly misunderstood at worst.

Communication has been central to all of my work, from teaching, to writing, to politics and community organizing. If selected to serve on this Commission, I intend to make the education of residents on matters of preservation and its advocacy my mission.

Sincerely,

Lisa Cusack.

RE: Lisa Cusack, Applicant for Historic Preservation Commission

To Glendale City Council and City Clerk,

I have had the opportunity to interface with Lisa Cusack on a couple of occasions to discuss the recent efforts to establish the Cleveland Knolls Historic District and I feel she is a good candidate for placement on the Historic Preservation Commission.

While Lisa may not have credentials specifically related to historic architecture - very few applicants ever do - she is a fast learner and she seems committed to ensuring that the public fully and correctly understand not only the importance of historic preservation but also the impact preservation can have on property owners.

Lisa is smart, patient and certainly able to interpret the finer details of how historic preservation is managed in the city of Glendale. I strongly encourage you to consider inviting Lisa to join the Historic Preservation Commission.

Regards,

(B) The Glendale Historic Preservation Commission plays a unique role in our city, as it is pivotal in ensuring that future generations remain connected with the rich past of the Jewel city. Though Glendale is a dynamic and ever-changing community, all of us who have a calling towards public service must work to preserve the character of our city. The role of this commission is to take a deep look at policies and programs directed towards historical preservation and to ensure that progress doesn't erase the qualities that make Glendale distinct. It does so by working to inform the city council on matters that concern the safeguarding of the cultural and historical heritage of our city. Focusing on the preservation of historic buildings, sites, and districts, this commission takes an active role in determining the complexion of our city for years to come. I believe that my skills and academic background make me a strong candidate for this position, as I completed my undergraduate studies in History and am now an incoming Public Policy graduate student at UCLA Luskin. Multiple internships in history and the legal field have granted me with a knowledge and understanding of the intersection between historical preservation and policy. Working as an intern with the curatorial department at the Autry museum also provided me with insight as to the preservation of historic artifacts, the skill of historic research and inquiry, and the effort that is required when bringing a historic topic to a modern audience. Beyond that, I saw first-hand that the telling of history is subject to the input of a number of stakeholders and that preserving history is a collaborative effort. Being a part of the Historic Preservation Commission here in Glendale would allow me to further develop my skills as a professional, while also providing me the opportunity to make a lasting difference in our community. I appreciate the consideration of my application.

(C) I have not previously served on any Glendale board or commission.
